The Heart of Man.

You may boast of jewels—coronets,

Ermine, purple, all you can—

There is that within them nobler,

Something all the rest surpassing;

As the flower is to the seed,

As to man is high archangel,

As to angel, God!

Running o'er with tears and weakness,

Flaming like a mountain fire,

Backed by hate and hateful passions,

Tossed about by wild desire,

There is still within him mingled,

Truth and pity, virtue, courage,

Thoughts that fly beyond the stars!

You who prize the book's poor paper

Above its thoughts of joy and pain;

You who love the cloud's bright vapor,

More than the sun, the blessing rain;

Take the gems, the crowns, the ermine;

But give us—in rags or purple—

The true, warm, strong heart of man!

The Magic Mirror.

BY JOHN THOMAS.

Ali Hassan was a gay young Persian of twenty-one. Life was all before him, except the twenty-one years he had skipped light-footed over (which were necessarily behind him) and matters and things he had cast his first vote for President, and consequently had an idea the fate of the Republic rested on his shoulders; handsome, he fancied all the blooming maidens of the township in which he lived, and the country adjacent were in love with him. He was in the hair-oil period of existence; at the present age when young men pay particular attention to tooth brushes, not on account of cleanliness

(which is truly next door neighbor to godliness and on the same side of the street), but for the looks of the thing; at the precise age when they part their hair behind and wear number seven boots, when number tens would be more comely, and consequently Ali Hassan was of course in love—who ever saw a young man of twenty-one who wasn't? No one, the author heretofore ventures to assert. He loved wildly and incomprehensibly—with a love that passed all understanding—particularly of his father, who opposed the match.

Zobeide, the young damsel of whom Ali

Hassan was enamored, was generally believed to be the most beautiful female in Persia, which is saying a great deal for her. Her eyes were like stag's; her hair was masses of wavy curls, which had she lived in this day of false hair, would have brought a handsome price in any market, and—but why go into particulars. Suffice it to say she was a well-proportioned girl, and her father had a farm of 160 acres, half under improvement and the other half well timbered.

Ali and Zobeide were engaged. He had been taken her to evening meetings and lectures;

he had taken her to the theatre; and, finally,

and, finally, after a vigorous seizure, she had capitulated. The old man's consent was reluctantly gained, and the happy day which was to unite them into one twin, was fixed in the sleep of the night. He had been told that

SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1868.

THE GREAT RAILWAY.—The distance between the advancing lines of the great road, which are soon to connect the East and West, is gradually becoming lessened by the energy and activity of the companies engaged in the work. The problem which has so long attracted the attention of statesmen and philosophers, in spite of all doubts, about to be solved. The long, tiresome march of the emigrant in search of a home in the far west is soon to be a thing of the past, and a new era of prosperity and wealth is being laid down over the greater part of the route, and the length to be completed is now only about 850 miles which, every day, is being rapidly shortened by the patient toil of an army of laborers. The grand achievement of the undertaking has been accomplished in surmounting the seemingly insuperable barrier of the rugged Sierra Nevada, and if the same spirit of enterprise and progress should continue to mark its progress the time will not be long before the locomotive will whistle in triumph while speeding its way over a continuous line from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

ADVERTISING AGENCIES.—Judging from the number of circulars recently received from the "only reliable" newspaper agents of San Francisco, we are led to infer that the business must pay well in order to support all who have assumed the calling. Some unworthy competitors in this line seem to have nothing to do but distribute their circulars containing propositions to send "first class" advertisements of quack nostrums, which they modestly request to have inserted at reduced rates. This undebating of agents should not be countenanced by respectable journals. The rates of advertising are low enough now, and any newspaper of good standing may well and easily earn the present price without resorting to any arrangement by which prices may be reduced. In this connection it is worthy of mention that L. P. Fisher, of San Francisco, discontenances the efforts to reduce the price of advertising, and shows that he has in view the interests of the publisher as well as those who have wares for sale.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT.—A couple of San Francisco rowdies went into a front street boarding house to have a "good time," and immediately improved the opportunity by flourishing their bowie knives among the terrified boarders. The landlord ordered them to leave, when they attacked him; in the melee he got possession of one of their knives and with a single blow completely severed the arm of one of the rowdies, at the wrist.

GRAIN ELEVATOR.—The work necessary for the construction of the grain elevator at Vallejo is progressing rapidly. Eighty kegs of powder were fired off in a single blast on Friday last by the contractors engaged in grading the site for the elevator.

ELOPEMENT.—A young girl left her parents in Bloomfield, Sonoma county, about two weeks ago and eloped with her admirer to San Francisco. He refused to marry her and the prodigal daughter returned home.

POISON OAK.—In cases of poisoning by contact with poison oak, bathe the parts with a solution of caustic potash. This is said to be a certain remedy.

KLUTZMANIA.—The Napa Reporter will please bear in mind that the title of our paper is YOLO COUNTY DEMOCRAT—not "An Exchange."

Wheat Crops of 1867 and 1868, and Railroads.

During the year of 1867, from January 1st to December 31st, we received from all sources 470,388 barrels of flour, and 6,003,676 sacks of wheat; and we exported during the same period 519,339 barrels of flour, and 4,659,285 sacks of wheat. The entire wheat crop of that year is estimated to have been 13,000,000 bushels, which, at the present rate, added to our other farm products, exceeded the yield of gold and silver by some $12,000,000. The crop of 1868 has been variously estimated from twenty-five to thirty millions of bushels; probably the first figure will be found the most correct. It is daily becoming more evident that our farm products are fast taking precedence of our gold, and present inducements to immigration for outwitting those offered by mining. Strong efforts are being made to bring our grain producing valleys nearer market, by opening railroads. San Francisco being the only port of California, Nevada, Arizona, Idaho and other inland Territories, and the only one on which Oregon can depend, must be benefited in exact proportion to the growth and prosperity of all her tributaries; and the grain product for the last two years, has stimulated immigration to a greater extent than formerly. The value of real estate in this city must necessarily depend upon the prosperity and population of all the agricultural, mining and manufacturing connections, as they furnish the only ground for its permanence and stability.

We cannot too soon begin our connections, by rail, with all the great valleys and adjacent States and Territories, of which this city is the only commercial outlet; and, as an incentive to such enterprise, we give the following data in regard to the earnings on thirteen of the leading Western roads, which in 1863 amounted to $65,611,624 in the aggregate, and in 1867 the earnings on the same roads rose to $92,875,982, being an increase of $27,264,358. Of these the Chicago and Northwestern and Reading roads show the greatest advance. In four years, the former rose from $4,500,000 to $11,582,348, and the latter in five years, from $4,088,837 to $10,637,124. These results should offer sufficient incentive to our capitalists to go and do likewise, especially those who have large real estate possessions in this city. —Corbin's Real Estate Circular for May.

A Change for the Better.

During a period of years the wildest and most destructive theories of government have prevailed; evil counsels have triumphed, and the people, as if awed by the effrontery of wicked leaders of a dominant party, have seemingly, looked with indifference upon the work of ruin that threatened to envelop the whole country in its folds and sweep forever from existence all principles of established law. Day by day misguided men—countenanced as the helmsmen of the ship of State—have recklessly placed in jeopardy those principles and policies in the affairs of Government, through which the Colonies rose gradually but surely to a proud position in the ranks of the great nations of the earth. Disobedience of constitutional law has wrought as its legitimate result a disease which has forced on the country a code of perverted and pernicious heresies, only to be overcome by the reason and good judgment of the people who alone possess the power to restore harmony out of chaos. For many months past the best evidence has existed of returning reason, to correct the evils and abuses to which the country has been subjected. The voice of the people has been heard, and that potent monitor has caused the nation to pause and reflect. The unmitigated expression of the ballot box in various localities has, from time to time, brought good cheer to desponding hearts, and the public mind is beginning to emerge from the bewilderment by which it has been enslaved, to realize the treachery and perfidy of those who have conspired to betray the people. That the tide is changing for the better, is a certainty that admits of no doubt. The stinging rebuke that Radicalism feels in the signal victories of the people during the past twelve months, is a sure indication of the fate of all dishonest partisans. It is the foundation of a glorious hope to those who have ever stood firm in maintaining the principles of self-government, and a beacon to guide the marshaling hosts of invincible patriots who are determined to save the nation from destruction, relieve that portion of the country which now suffers as the victim of intolerable persecution from the wrongs heaped upon it by the brutish deeds of revengeful fanatics, and finally secure the triumph of a national policy comprehending every State in the Union, and securing peace and happiness to the whole people.

All honor to the victories of the people during the past year; they proclaim the dying groans of Radicalism, and the triumph and preservation of justice, patriotism and common sense. The scene is changing. Anarchy and despotism are yielding to the influence of reason. The majesty and supremacy of the Constitution and laws of good government are taking the place of fanaticism and ruin. The events which have "cast their shadows before" will surely lead to a final and decisive victory for the good of the people—a victory that will be heralded with joy in every part of a country re-united in the common interest and affection of its citizens, from center to circumference.

The marked change in public opinion is full of bright promise, and the prize of good government is within the reach of the honest, earnest workers in the cause of Right.

ANDREW JACKSON.—Referring to the fact that General Grant has a sentinel on duty constantly at the door of his apartments, a correspondent of the Macon (Ga.) Telegraph relates the following incident of Gen. Jackson's last visit to New Orleans:

"The fatigues of the day ended, the old hero repaired with many of the citizens, to apartments prepared for him in that magnificent structure, the St. Louis Hotel. The captain of an Irish company detailed a sentinel to stand at the door of the General's apartment. There he was walking his rounds, when the General descended him, and turning to Gen. Louis, he said—

"Only a sentinel at your door General. I shall ever remember that look, and the exclamation, 'My God!' as he stood up to the sentinel with a manner which was the General's own."

"My good man," said he, "what are you doing at my door, with a musket in your hands?"

"The captain placed me here as your guard General."

"Am I not in the midst of the American people? Am I in danger from these? or is this intended as an honor to me? If so, I despise it! Go home, Sir, and get your dinner, and turning to his guests, he continued, whenever an American citizen by his public conduct renders a public guard necessary, beware of that man!"

THE BRANCH PRISON SITE.—The following resolutions on this subject have been adopted by the Board of Prison Directors:

Resolved, That after an examination of the proposed site for a branch prison at Rocklin and Folsom, it is the judgment of this Board that the site at Folsom, by reason of its water power, possesses advantages over that at Rocklin, and that the site at Folsom be, therefore, selected; provided, however, that the National Water Company, in accordance with their offer, convey to the State the tract of 350 acres, with the quarry and timbers, free of encumbrance, by an unconditional deed, and also the water power, conditioned upon the expenditure of $14,000 in convict labor, at such time as the Board may hereafter determine to be judicious, in the event that it should be deemed desirable to organize a branch prison.

Resolved, That in the selection of the above site this Board do not intend to express any opinion in favor of the organization of a branch prison, as they deem it better to reserve the question of the policy of such a step for future consideration.

For these diseases, it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. Are you troubled with that disgusting pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A teaspoonful of a day of Helmholt's Buchu will relieve you.

Physicians and Others

PLEASE NOTICE.

I make no secret of ingredients. Helmholt's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Caneberries and Juniper Berries, selected with care, prepared in vacuo and according to the rules of pharmacy.

Pharmacy and Chemistry.

These ingredients are known as the most valuable Diuretics aforesaid. A Diuretic is that which acts upon the Kidneys. Helmholt's Extract Buchu acts gently. It is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is recommended by the highest authorities of all, see Medical Properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:

"Buchu. Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the Kidneys, morbid action of the Bladder and Uterus, diseases of the Prostate, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned. It is also recommended in Rheumatism, cutaneous affections and Dropsy."

For further information see Professor Dewees' valuable works on the Practice of Physic, Philadelphia. See any and all standard works on Medicine.

Dr. Keyser is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia.

Mr. H. T. HELMHOLD—Dear Sir: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the same in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form of preparation of it more useful or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicine agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys; and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by its facts. I have been and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves, the simple decoction, tincture fluid extracts; and I am not cognizant of any preparation of Buchu that is all equal to yours. Helmholt's Extract Buchu, in any other proprietary compound of whatever name. Respectfully yours, &c., GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D., 140 Wood St., Pittsburgh, Pa., August 11, 1863.

FROM THE LARGEST MANUFACTURING CHEMIST IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmholt; he occupies the drug store opposite my place, and has been successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise, and with the value of his extracts of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown streets, Philadelphia. The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his preparations, and knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery, or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare Pharmaceutical preparations. These parties, who are engaged in the business of collecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies and flouting with certificates. The secret of their success is, in fact, induction for its pillar, truth alone for its capital.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.

TOWN AND COUNTY MATTERS.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS.—The improvement on threshing machines which we mentioned last week as having been invented by B. & F. Jackson, has been more thoroughly tested and has been found capable of accomplishing even more than was claimed for it. As before stated, the improvement consists of draper attachments running over the stacks on each side of the machine for the purpose of carrying the grain to the feeder, and are adjusted in such a manner that they may be changed in position to suit the convenience of the men on the stacks without interfering in the least with the motion of the machine. The power is derived from the main belt in connection with a friction pulley beneath and just in front of the cylinder pulley. The advantages claimed by the inventors for this attachment are, first, that it takes less than one-half the men on the stacks. Second, that it saves the grain that is usually threshed out and trampled in the dirt at the bottom of the stacks, and which cannot be passed to the machine with forks without waste of grain, labor and time. Third, that a machine with the drapers attached can thresh one-third more grain in a given time than is usually done without them. No perceptible increase of power is required to drive the machinery with the drapers attached, and they may be used with equal advantage on steam or horse-power machines. The Jackson Brothers are using Pitt's 40 inch cylinder separator, and Wood & Mann's six horse-power engine. This improvement, complete, can be attached to any machine for $250. If only one draper is needed it can be furnished for $200. The invention is worthy of the attention of farmers. It must of necessity come into general use as a money and labor-saving machine.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.—The Second Annual Statement of the "Continental Life Insurance Company," of New York, has just been published. This statement shows the amount of business transacted by the company from the date of its incorporation to the 9th of May last. When it is considered that only two years have elapsed since the first policy was issued by the company, the statement is one of congratulation to policy-holders and others interested in the prosperity of the enterprise. During the two years 2,342 policies have been issued. Amount insured, $20,658,930.00; claims paid, $54,000.00; net amount of income, $1,450,975.75; expenditures, $303,275.22; excess of income over expenditures, $1,147,700.53; total amount of capital, $1,157,700.53. J. A. Bissell and A. J. Hall, agents for Yolo county.

TWO CELEBRATIONS.—It seems there are to be two celebrations of the Fourth in this place. A meeting of citizens was held at Temporal Hall on Thursday night, at which it was resolved to celebrate the day by music, oration, reading Declaration, dinner, burning powder, etc. A committee of arrangements was appointed, of which N. Wyckoff is Chairman. C. H. Gray, D. M. Burns and C. S. Frost were selected as Finance Committee, with power to add others from different portions of the county, whose duty it is to raise funds to meet necessary expenses.

SCHOOL CENSUS.—The Census Marshal of Woodland School District has prepared his report from which we glean the following: Number of children under the ages of five and fifteen years—boys, 136; girls, 120. Children under five—boys, 76; girls, 65. Number attending public school—boys, 61; girls, 65. Number attending private school—boys, 31; girls, 38. Number attending no school—boys, 39; girls, 29. Number of negro children, 3; Mongolian, 1.

FOURTH OF JULY.—The committee of arrangements, consisting of Wm. Minis, E. H. Baker and J. Levison, are actively engaged in making preparations for the celebration of the Fourth. The committee will meet to-day, and again on Tuesday next, at which time the sub-committees are expected to report. The ground selected for the speaker's stand is in a beautiful grove, west of town and near the residence of C. P. Dubois.

AN ADVOCATE.—There is an enterprising individual in Woodland whose hobby is the eight hour law. He will never be satisfied until the system is universally adopted. It is not known whether he ever gives practical illustrations of eight hour labor, but it is conceded by all that he can talk any number of hours on the subject, he pleases, without caring whether his audience survives or perishes under the infliction.

GLOVES.—We have been shown samples of buckskin gloves manufactured by Chris. Huntly, at his place west of town. These gloves are made from the finest buckskin, tanned and prepared expressly for the purpose, and are very neat and durable. Persons who want to ride or heavy gloves for harvesting or other labor, should give Huntly a call.

RUNAWAY.—A team belonging to Gary & Co., broke loose from their anchorage near the butcher shop on Wednesday and started out on its own accord for a trial of speed. Before getting out of town they managed to run over a Chinaman who miraculously escaped injury. After running a few miles they were captured and brought back to town. No damages.

RAILROAD MEETING.—The Railroad meeting held at Heath's Hall on Monday night was well attended. Books were opened for subscription, and a committee of three appointed to wait on citizens for the purpose of ascertaining what amount could be raised. An opportunity is thus offered to secure the advantages of a railroad.

BALL AT DAVISVILLE.—A ball is to be given by Wm. Dresbach, at Davisville on Friday evening, July 3d. The Union Band of Sacramento has been engaged for the occasion.

BALL IN WOODLAND.—A. S. House is preparing to receive the lovers of music and dancing at Baker's Hotel, on Friday evening, July 3d.

LECTURE TO-NIGHT AT THE COURT HOUSE.—Subject: "Condition of the South."

EDITORIAL CHANGE.—We understand that Calvin V. McDonald, Esq., who has been presiding over the columns of the Unionist since last fall, is no longer connected with that paper, but is about to return to the city of Oakland, Cal., where he is offered a position on the Daily Transcript. He promised when he came, to revolutionize Oregon politics. The thing has been very effectively done, to be sure—but we don't know how much he claims of it. [Salmon (Oregon) Record.]

THE SOLANO PRESS OF THE 24th inst. says: "The whistle of the locomotive was first heard on Saturday night, and the first train of cars will arrive this morning."

THE FOLLOWING IS FROM THE CAPITAL REPORT OF JUNE 23RD:

DEATH OF GEORGE R. MOORE.—George R. Moore, an old and respected citizen of this city, and a distinguished member of the bar, died suddenly about 3 1/2 o'clock, P. M., yesterday, at his residence on F street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets. Deceased had been suffering for a long time of lunging consumption, but continued to make his appearance on the street until Sunday. Just prior to his death he descended from the upper story, walked about for a short time, and then retired upon a settee in the sitting-room. In about ten minutes after he was discovered to be dead. Deceased was a native of Maine, aged 39 years, formerly connected editorially with literary magazines and the newspaper press at the East, and did good service here as a member of our City Board of Education. He leaves an interesting family, and many relatives and warm friends in this State. We learn that there was an insurance of $50,000 on his life in the Brooklyn Life Insurance Company.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Miss Maggie McIntire, aged about 22 years, died suddenly on Sunday afternoon at the residence of her mother, on M street. Her death was caused by morphia, and it being presumed on the one hand, to have been self-administered with a deadly intent, and on the other, that it was merely an overdose, we understand that Coroner Cunniff will hold an inquest this morning to ascertain the facts.

How to Cook a Bean.—Buy a bean, bathe it well, put in twelve quarts of steeched river water, (if you haven't got a river, bathe it six hours by an averted clock, take it out and wipe it thoroughly dry with a soft towel—an old shirt won't answer—lay it on its north-east side about two degrees south-westerly; bore a hole gently in each end, abstract the "inside" very quietly without mashing very much; then stuff one end with soft boiled rice, and the other end with rice "biled" soft; the end that pinto toward Jersey City should in all instances, except in cases of extreme hemorrhage be stuffed first; then take the Con y Island side of the shell off gently; then the Williamsburg side carefully, so the Williamsburg people won't know it, then sweeten with salt, and it will taste so much like rice you'd never dream it was a bean.

Young America in Boston is up to times. A chap of six years, after dancing the German, the gallop and other fashionable dances at one of the balls the other afternoon, stepped into a thorough horse car and wanted to know, in a boisterous tone, if there wasn't any body gentleman enough to give his lady, Miss Smith, a seat. Somebody was, and the girl—five years old—was lifted to her seat, from which her legs and feet stuck out like two little pegs.

"My dear, what shall we get for dinner to-day?" "One of your smiles," replied the husband; "I can dine on that any day." "But I can't," said the wife. "Then take this," said he, giving her a kiss, and departing for his office. He returned to dinner. "This is excellent," said he; "what did you pay for it?" "What you gave me this morning," said she. "The deuce you did!" said he; "then you shall have market money the rest of the time."

A lady in Nashville was making a visit to the penitentiary, and was permitted to look through the various wards. In one she saw three women engaged in sewing, and turning to the keeper who was showing her about, said to him in an undertone: "Dear me, the most vicious looking women I ever saw in my life? What are they put there for?" "They are here, madam," was the reply, "because I am here. Those ladies are my wife and daughters."

There are different ways of saying the same thing. One man admires brevity—another elegance. While the first would say, "Old boss, I'll see you in the Fall," the other would present the same idea in this language: "When 'neath a canopy of golden leaves, 'Mid all the pomp and glory of the state, Summer in fragrance breathes her life away, And sober Autumn is enthroned instead, I'll meet thee, antiquated steed."

SHABBY PAID.—A conductor on a Connecticut railroad passed from a poor penniless chap, recently. An officer of the road in the same car called him to account. "I pass him," said the man of tickets, "because he's a conductor on the railroad." "He a conductor?" Why, what makes him dress so shabbily?" "Oh, he's trying to live on his salary," was the quick reply. Mr. Treasurer saw the point and dropped the subject.

A TOLL-GATE keeper was brought before a magistrate for cruelty to his daughter. "The little difficulty arose from a discovery made by the parent that the girl, who was frequently left in charge of the gate, used to allow her sweetheart, a young butcher, to drive his wagon through free. She never told her love."

A CURIOUS exhibitor at an agricultural fair divided a bushel of peaches and entered one-half in his own name for competition, and the other in the name of an influential man in a neighboring town. The big man got the prize, and the other contributor, although off the same tree, was not mentioned.

EMERSON says "it is pleasant to see refinement penetrating into retired homes. The more piano the less wolf, the less dirt. The beautiful should never be out of thought. It is right that the bread should be put upon the table in a comely shape as that it should be eaten."

A STUPID fellow tried to annoy a popular preacher by asking him whether the fattest calf of the parable was a male or a female. "Female, to be sure," was the reply; "for I see the male, looking the questioner full in the face, yet alive in the flesh before me."

A CLERGYMAN happening to get wet, was standing over the fire drying his clothes, and when his colleague came in, he asked him to preach for him, as he was wet. "No, sir, I thank you," was the prompt reply, "preach yourself; you will be dry enough in the pulpit."

An Irishman upon seeing a negro for the first time, said, "Boy, sing us a song." "I can't sing no song, massa," replied the negro. "Then," says Pat, "what the devil have ye got yer legs in the middle of yer foot like a lark for?"

A YOUNG LADY once remarked that she didn't like turtle soup. Being affectionately rebuked, she answered, piteously, that she didn't much object to the taste, but that she thought it so cruel and wicked to kill turtles.

FOR THE CAMPAIGN.—An exchange suggests that Jesse's life of his son Ulysses be published as a campaign pamphlet with a spirited illustration of this passage: "Ulysses rode around the ring on the pony, with the monkey on his head."

"Go on, old fellow," said two idle scapegraces to an honest laborer at work. "Work while we play—now and we'll reap." "Very likely, my lads," replied the old man coolly, "I'm sowing hemp."

A MISTAKE.—An exchange says: It is a grand mistake to think that the majority are always in the right. They were not so at the time of the flood—and they've been wrong several times since.

Mrs. JENKINS complained in the morning that the turkey she had eaten in the evening did not set well. "Probably," said Jenkins, "it was not a hen turkey."
